

PROJECTCODEX SECURITY

ProjectCodexSecurity is a cybersecurity company that provides useful solutions to help people stay safer online. We have a unique app that lets you check if your password is strong or not, among many other features.

Additionally, we have a blog where we share useful tips and news about security to keep people fully informed.

Finally, we have a community where people can connect with each other and learn together. It's a unique and free platform—only the most advanced users pay for a subscription to level up their security.
